DRAFT: This Resource Directory is a resource to provide information to individuals and interested parties on sustainable building practices. Every attempt has been made to ensure accuracy and usefulness of the information herein. However, all information has been voluntarily provided by the participants themselves and has not been audited and is not legally enforceable. Our intent is only to objectively provide information regarding services and practices and do not endorse one over any other. Furthermore, listings should not be considered absolute, as other builders, suppliers, and other qualified professionals may have unintentionally been omitted from this list. Those excluded parties who feel that this has been done in error are strongly encouraged to contact our program.
